

British Columbia's Monthly New Homes Registry Report

September 2016 Issue

LEADING HOUSING MARKET INDICATOR FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

Registered new homes data are a leading indicator of housing and economic¹ activity in British Columbia. The Monthly New Homes Registry Report provides information on registered new homes by building type, building size and location, and is intended for use by the residential construction industry, real estate community and researchers.

Highlights

- In the first nine months of 2016, 31,691 new homes were registered² in BC, up by 14.0% from the same period in 2015, driven by an increase in both multi-unit homes (+10.6%)³ and single detached homes (+21.3%)⁴.
- Registered new homes in September included 1,082 single detached and 3,811 multi-unit homes. This month, 24.2% of registered multi-unit homes were rental. Compared to September 2015, the number of registered new homes increased by 19.4%. Between August and September in 2016, there was a decrease in single detached homes (-24.0%) but an increase in multi-unit homes (+17.6%).
- Using a trend analysis with moving averages⁵, there were 4,178 new registered homes in September 2016, trending at an increase of 6.5% from August 2016 for all new homes, including an increase of 13.8% in multi-unit homes³ and a decrease of 6.8% in single detached homes.
- Metro Vancouver accounted for 75.1% of all new homes registered in BC in September 2016.
- Burnaby, Surrey, and Vancouver were the three cities with the highest number of registered new homes this month. The majority of homes in Port Moody, New Westminster, Burnaby, Fort St. John, Squamish, Richmond, North Saanich, Abbotsford, Kamloops, Surrey, Langley⁶, Courtney, Vancouver, and Maple Ridge were in multi-unit buildings.
- There were 160 proposed new multi-unit buildings³ in the province in September 2016. The majority of these buildings were duplexes (32.5%) and buildings of 5 to 50 dwelling units (30.6%). The largest building of 407 dwelling units was proposed to be built in Surrey.
- There were 923 homes in multi-unit rental buildings registered in September. A total of 4,042 rental units have been registered in 2016, up 18.8% compared to 2015. More than 10 rental units were proposed in Vancouver, New Westminster, Kelowna, Port Coquitlam, Surrey, Langley⁶, Abbotsford, Penticton, Victoria, Kamloops, North Vancouver⁶, Squamish, Chilliwack, Saanich, Nanaimo, Pemberton, Langford, Port Alberni, and Cranbrook.

British Columbia's Monthly New Homes Registry Report

Background and Methodology

BC Housing is responsible for the administration of the Homeowner Protection Act, with a mandate to help bring about improvements in the quality of residential construction and increase consumer protection for buyers of new homes in British Columbia (BC). Under the Act, all new homes in the province must be registered with BC Housing. The registration of new homes in the public registry must occur prior to the issuance of building permits and housing starts. The new homes registry data measures residential construction activities at the beginning of a project before construction commences. Therefore, information in the Monthly New Homes Registry Report is a leading indicator of housing activity in BC.

New home registration data is collected from Licensed Residential Builders and owner builders through the New Home Registration forms and Owner Builder Authorization applications. Over time, some minor adjustments may be made to the new home registration data as registrations are withdrawn or cancelled from home warranty insurance.

This report provides information on registered new homes by building type, building size, and building location. Figures for registered new homes include both multi-unit and single detached new homes enrolled with home warranty insurance and Owner Builder Authorizations. Calculations for homes in rental buildings have been presented separately. CSA-approved manufactured homes (mobile homes and factory-built homes), floating homes, non-stratified hotels, motels, dormitories and care facilities are excluded from the definition of new home.

Geographical terms in this publication are based on Statistics Canada's 2006 Census area. In February 2009, the regional district of Comox-Strathcona was replaced by two successor regional districts, Comox Valley and Strathcona.

In collaboration with BC Housing, the Bank of Canada conducted a study to assess whether or not new home registration data can be used as a leading indicator for economic activity in BC. Study findings reveal that quarterly increases in new registrations for single detached homes have statistically significant predictive content for growth in real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) over the next one to three quarters, providing stronger signals compared to housing starts and building permits over this forecast horizon.
